

Recording your qualifying work experience

Updated 12 April 2023

23 January 2025 - There is currently an issue with confirming qualifying work experience. If your nominated solicitor experiences this issue, please [contact US \[https://consultations.sra.org.uk/contactus\]](https://consultations.sra.org.uk/contactus) for further help.

Who can apply

Candidates who want to record a completed period of qualifying work experience (QWE). Find out what you can claim as QWE on our [candidate pages \[https://consultations.sra.org.uk/become-solicitor/sqe/qualifying-work-experience-candidates/\]](https://consultations.sra.org.uk/become-solicitor/sqe/qualifying-work-experience-candidates/).

You only need to register the full two years' QWE by the time you apply for admission as a solicitor. For example if you are due to leave a role shortly or because you want to use a past role as QWE.

Before applying, please make sure the solicitor of England and Wales or compliance officer for legal practice (COLP) we regulate are aware that they will need to confirm your QWE. They will be contacted once you have submitted this.

When to apply

You can apply when you have a completed and confirmed period of QWE - you must enter an end date. This date cannot be in the future or left blank.

As QWE can be gained in up to four organisations, you'll need to complete a separate application for each period of QWE you register.

What you need

- A completed period of QWE that has already ended. If you have been in role for more than two years, we suggest you speak your confirming solicitor to agree the best date range to use
- Confirmation from a solicitor or compliance officer for legal practice (COLP) we regulate.
